EMPLOYMENT AND SPECIALIZATION, 2000

In 2000, the majority of state government jobs were located in Jefferson City, Columbia, the St. Louis metropolitan area, and Kansas City.

According to specialization ratios (location quotients), 24 Missouri counties were highly specialized in state government employment. These areas were concentrated in central Missouri and in the regional trade centers of the state. The most specialized counties in the state were DeKalb, Cole, Boone, Callaway, Nodaway, Johnson, Phelps, Washington, Saline and Pike. It is important to note that SRs measure the proportion of industry employment relative to the state average, not the total number of jobs.
